Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments:

Applicant's representative proposed an amendment to recite, "loading the activation context into computer system memory to provide accelerated access to the activation context such that when an assembly is to be loaded there is no need to refer to the received manifest." Applicant's representative stated that Hammond and Saboff do not load activation contexts into memory, but rather access such information from disk. The examiner suggested clarifying the language of the claims to show how the manifest and activation context are related in terms of the loading to and/or accessing from memory and/or disk. Applicant's representative may cancel claims 32-41, and may consider language to more particularly define the content of the manifest and/or activation context. Agreed that further search and further review of Hammond and Saboff will be necessary.
